... but it's a close call. After 55% of Bedfordshire voters opt to leave the EU, we ask what happens next?

YOUNG people – who voted in their droves to remain in the EU – will bear the brunt of Brexit both locally and nationally, a councillor has warned.

Luton's Liberal Democrat leader David Franks said: "The long term consequences will of course be felt by today's younger people and already evidence is emerging that those under 30 voted very heavily in favour of remaining a member of the European

The country now faces years of negotiating to leave the 28 member bloc. In Luton, 44,569 voted for leave while 41,497 voted to Remain. In Central Bedfordshire it was 89,134 to 69,670 and in Bedford Borough, 47,773 to Politicians on both sides of the fence have been vocal about what it means for the future of the country, as Great Britain enters a lengthy and complex process to facilitate the country leaving the EU.

Nadine Dorries, MP for Central Bedfordshire, a staunch and vocal advocate for the Leave campaign, was in a far more buoyant mood, saying "I am overjoyed at the outcome of today and that the majority of people in Bedfordshire voted to leave the EU."

Divided by EU vote, but let it end there

AT 4.30am on Friday I began to realise British people would be waking up in a different country to the one they went to sleep in.

As results trickled in and our own county's decision was announced, the abstract notion of Brexit became a reality.

Since then, we have seen the pound plummet and France overtake the UK as the world's fifth largest economy. We knew Brexit would have immediate economic impacts the best we can say is the future is uncertain.

But the economy is only one fraction of this story, and it is the part least likely to affect our lives in the immediate term.

The communities we live in and the people we meet; they are our everyday reality. Bedfordshire was split by this EU vote, almost right in half.

But the worst thing that could happen now - worst than Brexit itself and as much of a threat had Remain won by the same margin - is for these cracks to show.

David Cameron has decided the time has come to abandon ship having given the British people a chance to have their say. The rest of us really are 'all in this together'

Big firms call for swift EU tal think?

BY NICK SMITH

TWO of Bedfordshire's biggest employers have said contingency planning is underway following the UK's Brexit vote.

easyJet, based in Luton, has said it expects no major changes in the short-term but long-term planning is in progress.

Vauxhall, also based in Luton, has said it is vital that negotiations are concluded swiftly

Both companies were firm supporters of a remain vote ahead of the referendum.

An easylet spokeswoman said: "We have contingency planning underway as you would expect but do not plan to provide details of this at this stage." But she confirmed the airline has no plans to move from its Luton base.

A spokesman for the car giant, which exports Vivaro vans all over the world, said: "It is important for Vauxhall that negotiations on the UKs future relationship with the EU are concluded in a timely manner.

'It is also important that business continues to benefit from the movement of goods and people during this period.

results After were announced on Friday, Prime Minister David Cameron said he intended to resign but would stay in post to 'steady the ship' until a new leader was appointed before Conservative Party Conference in October.

Leave supporter and MP for Bedford and Kempston, Richard Fuller, paid tribute to the Tory leader and his 'dignified statement', but said he 'wished he had

"This is a clear decision by the British people which asks us to set a new course for our country.'

But some small business owners remain fearful of the impact the vote could have.

Sophie O'Rourke runs EMC
Design, in Stevington. She said: "I felt ashamed, embarrassed and powerless by my country's decision.

The markets have already shown huge volatility.

"We've rocked the remaining EU countries' stability and recovery too and we're potentially going to lose Scotland and change the delicate balance of power in Northern Ireland.

"We've essentially stuck two fingers up to the rest of Europe. "None of this is good for

Hen's £12 'sorry' for 12-hour delay

A BRIDE-TO-BE has said her hen do was 'ruined' after an airline mishap left her party grounded for 12 hours.

Donna Smith, of Pelscombe Way, Luton, and a party of seven others, were left stranded for 12 hours in Luton Airport on June 2 after airline Vueling sent a small-er plane for their flight to Barcelona – then apologised with a £12 food and drink voucher.

Miss Smith said: "I booked with the airline because it was cheaper, others were already in Barcelona as they flew with easyJet.

"While we were queueing

we were told there were not enough seats on the plane, despite having designated seats."

As a result, the group was reassigned a flight at 8.10pm and ended up losing a whole day of their three-day trip.

Miss Smith added: "We had been up since 4.30am that day and arrived at the venue in Barcelona at 1.30am the following day.

"We were too shattered to enjoy ourselves by then.

"We missed out on activi-ties planned for that day as well, along with missing our transfer from the airport meaning we had to get a

Vueling authorised its ground staff at Luton Airport to offer all affected clients the options of either taking Vueling's afternoon flight from Luton to Barcelona or to be moved to another flight taking off from London-Gatwick at 14h40 local time.'

Vueling has not yet offered any further compensation.

Cops in 'dummy' dilemma

OFFICERS apologised this week after they sent explosives to a tourist attraction - by accident.

Bedfordshire Police admitted responsibility for sending the 'dummy' Gelamex (a quarry explosive) to the 'knife angel' at Shropshire Ironworks, causing it to be evacuated on April 15.

A spokeswoman for the force said: "We have written to the company and apologised for any distress.

"We have reviewed our processes in light of this incident to ensure we have learnt from it."

CUSTOMERS at a food chain in The Mall were sent running for cover as a vicious fight broke out between a group of men who hurled tables and chairs at each other.

The fight took place in the Muffin Break eating area at noon on Monday. Bedfordshire Police

Drivers call for contract u-turn

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday co.uk

MORE than 100 taxi drivers took to the streets on Wed-nesday in protest against a contract being awarded to a London company.

the Organised by the union RMT, the protest comes as a result Luton Airport awarding a five year contract at the airport to London-based firm Addison Lee, after a contract with Luton Hackney Carriages Association expired in February.

The event was deemed a success, with large numbers of drivers turning out to protest.

Mohammed Ansah was one of the pro-testing drivers and he said he hopes that it would put pressure on the council

He said: "It went well as a peaceful protest, but as of vet nobody has responded to our cause

"We plan on hold-

PROTEST: More than 100 people took to Luton town hall on Wednesday afternoon to air their concerns about who the contract was awarded to ing more events in the hope that the council changes the changes their mind."

This is the second protest this month.

A protest by cab drivers, held on June 1, caused chaos for commuters as up to 150 hackney carriage 'plied for drivers hire' on roads leading up to the airport blocking the route for visitors. RMT General

Secretary Mick Cash spoke of the impact it will have on drivers, saying: "RMT demands that the Luton Airport tender be re-run to give proper weight to the contribution from local drivers.

"RMT also demands that the taxi rank at the airport be reinstated.
"If this does not occur, local drivers face being ruined.

"Allowing multinationals to gorge themselves on fees earned by providing local services, will simply lead to those services being overpriced and revenue being exported out of

Child porn charge at school

A STAFF member at a Luton Primary School is due to be sentenced for downloading indecent images of children.

Reuben Francis, 28, of Hart Lane, Luton was suspended from Stopsley Community Primary School after being charged with seven counts of making an idencent image of a child.

A spokesman for Bedfordshire Police said: "He appeared at Luton Magistrates on 1 June and will next appear at Luton Crown Court on July 8 for sentencing."

A spokesman for Luton Borough Council said: "The head teacher and governors have robust procedures in place and immediately put these in to action as soon as they were made aware of the allegations.

"The employee was immediately removed from the school and subsequently suspended pending the outcome of an internal investigation.

"A letter was issued to parents to reassure them that the police investigation did not uncover any evidence to sug-gest the images were in any way connected to current or former pupils at Stopslev Community Primary School and parents are welcome to discuss any concerns they may have with the council's safeguarding education team."

Police presence is 'key' to crime plan

BEDFORDSHIRE'S police and crime commissioner has announced her priorities for the force - with increasing police presence coming out on top.

Kathryn Holloway, who was elected in May, set out her vision for the direction Bedfordshire Police will take over the next four years in the Police and Crime plan unveiled this week.

The Conservative commissioner aims to instil 'greater confidence' in the force.

But she admits there are challenges to overcome.

In the document, Ms Holloway addresses a number of incidents that have seen Bedfordshire Police criticised over the last few months.

They include: the sacking of two officers found guilty of gross misconduct for laughing at autism-sufferer Faruk Ali as they chased him; the death of Istiak Yusuf in his police cell; and the death of Karl Brunner as he was held down by police officers in Bedford.

She also touched on the mass brawl after the end of Luton Carnival 'despite the presence of 100 officers to police the event'.

Ms Holloway makes it clear that better communication of such 'events' is needed, but that reestablishing a police presence in our communities is the priority.

She has pledged to open seven new police hubs where police stations have closed, including the reopening of Leighton Buzzard's station.

immigration, Holloway says terror attacks in Belgium and Paris suggest others may be hiding among the desperate to infiltrate our countries' and we must establish their identities to prove 'they mean us no harm'.

"This is not hard-hearted, it is common-sense," she says. "We must not create a ghetto but integrate."

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK: PCC Kathryn Holloway

A month in the job

LAST month Bedfordshire elected Conservative candidate Kathryn Holloway to be Police and Crime Commissioner for the next four years.

In this week's entry, she speaks of her plans in the role and what steps have been taken so far to achieve them.

As a former journalist, I was always frustrated when politicians suffered from amnesia over promises immediately after they were elected.

That is why it is important to me to show those who voted for me as Bedfordshire's Police and Crime Commissioner, as well as those who did not, that I have kept my word from Day One in the job.

I said during the Campaign that, at a time when the Force's frontline is stretched, I would make savings in my own office.

That is why I have not appointed a Deputy on a salary of over £30,000 for a three-day week, as previously.

I have given notice to the Press Agency who handled media inquiries, which is no comment on their performance, but as I am able to write my own.

Finally, a Sergeant worked in the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner, who was naid by Bedfordshire Police from its funds, as a Staff Officer.

I could not justify retaining this role either, especially when funded in this

This amounts to over £100,000 of public money which will not now be spent in this manner.

I pledged to back seven Community Policing Hubs around the county, headed up by a Sergeant with both Police Constables and Special Constables with full police powers of arrest, plus Police Community Support Officers.

The Deputy Chief Constable Mark Collins and I are finalising placements for these and we will deliver genuinely more visible policing.

For example, we intend to place the Bedford Hub right in the town centre at the point of peak demand from the Night Time Economy and where it can be seen by shoppers and those working in the town by day.

I have had very productive discussions with the Bedfordshire Fire and Rescue Service, and the Fire Brigades' Union, to move forward plans to share fire stations in areas where police stations have disappeared and next month will update you.

Finally I launched Project Boost the Frontline to do just what it "says on the tin" - looking at those officers we employ in desk jobs and whether any can be released to frontline duty, the support needed by those on restricted duties or long-term sickness to get back to the job they love and what practical steps I can take to boost the morale of our officers, looking after them so they can look after you.

Leader hits back over ISIS classes

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

ANTI-ISIS classes have come under fire from a community leader concerned about the effect they could have on young people.

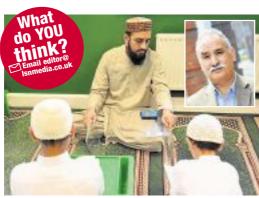

As reported by LoS last week, Al-Hira Educational and Cultural Centre has been teaching Muslim pupils aged 11 to 16 lectures how ISIS is targeting young people on social media.

More than 600 students pass through the doors of the Beechwood Road facility each week, with lessons teaching children to recognise violent propaganda online, and use the Quran to determine whether the message is false.

But Akbar Dad Khan, from Luton community group Building Bridges, feels they could have a negative effect by exposing young people to ISIS

He said: "It's very unfair to open up a whole new can of worms, which could have a long lasting effect on the kids they are teaching."

Mr Khan says he has spoken to others who share a similar

A YOUNG man suffered nasty facial burns after a bungled operation to make cannabis oil ended with the house blowing up.Police and firefighters found the front room window blown out and a rear patio door lying in the gar-den at the house in Chesford Road, Luton, after the explosion at 1.30am on April 10 last vear.

The cause was soon found butane gas used to make the oil.

Two other young men involved in the operation, Mark James, of Ferney Road, East Barnet, and Adriano Borges, of Astoria House, Colindale, North London, both 25, pleaded guilty to producing a Class B drug at Luton Crown Court on Monday.

The court was told James had rented the property and Borges had been promised cannabis as a reward for help with the operation.

Passing sentence Judge Kay said although there was nothing to say who was behind the operation, James had played a 'significant role' by renting the house.

He sentenced James to 20 weeks imprisonment suspended for 18 months and ordered him to carry out 150 hours of unpaid work

James will also be subject to a three-month electronically monitored home curfew.

Borges was given a 12 month community order and 100 hours of unpaid work.

Stepping up for a charity challenge

A SURVIVOR of child sex abuse went to dizzying heights to raise money for the NSPCC when she climbed to the top of London landmark the Gherkin.

Petula Dennis, a samba dance fitness teacher from Luton, scaled the 1,037 steps in just 11 minutes and 25 seconds on Sunday to raise awareness of the charity's work with vulnerable children. Petula said: "I want to highlight the importance of confiding in a trusted adult and the NSPCC and to keep speaking out in order for that abuse to stop."

HIGH PRAISE: Patula Dennis at the top of the Gherkin

Massive rise in child abuse 'unacceptable'

BY KATY HALLAM

editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

THE number of child cruelty and neglect cases recorded by police in Bedfordshire has more than tripled in the last two years.

Parents or carers in the county were reported in connection with 27 offences in 2014-15, compared to just seven in 2013-14.

The dramatic rise was revealed by the NSPCC's annual child protection review - How Safe Are Our Children - released on Tuesday.

The charity was called by adults fearing for the safety of children who were starving and dirty, and others who were living in rat-infested homes.

Others reported parents who were drunk or left their children to fend for themselves.

Colin Peak, NSPCC head of service for East of England, said: "These levels of neglect simply do not belong to the 21st century. Many of these lonely, frightened, children have to resort to desperate measures to survive after being left to fend for themselves and it shames our nation that these numbers are so high.

"It's an unacceptable situation which must be remedied."

The charity has launched the It's Time campaign to see victims of child abuse given appropriate therapy to them overcome their traumatic experiences.

Tackling the HIV

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

TREATMENT for HIV/AIDS has come a long way over the last 30 years.

But the fight is far from over when it comes to the stigma attached to the disease, according to one Luton charity.

charity,
Since it was formed in 1988,
Embrace Life, now a part of Luton Community Housing, has been supporting people in the area who have been diagnosed with HIV.

Jane Foster headed the organisation for many years and, while she has recently taken a back seat, she remains heavily involved with the charity.

remains heavily involved with the charity.

Mrs Foster said: "When people are diagnosed with HIV people can be very reclusive and afraid to tell people, even their friends and family as it can still be looked at with a stigma.

"Our job is to help people through this and support them, as any problem people have can have an adverse affect on their illness, causing their cells which fight the virus to decrease in number."

On average, there is a six month case work process in which the group support people, but their doors are always welcome to people after that. Mrs Foster added: "People are frightened when they first start out but then the turnaround is amazing.

"By the end of it, 90 per cent of people who visit are living a totally normal life a totally normal life.

"Treatment for HIV has changed so much recently, you only need three pills a day these days and you can live an almost normal life if you stick to your medication.

"We do a lot of intensive casework but people can always come back if they have a specific problem. The door is always onen."

Aside from these services, the group also organises a number of social events, in order to keep recently diagnosed people socialising in an atmosphere they feel comfortable with.

One service user said: "Embrace Life has supported me and my family immensely with getting help concerning our accommodation problems.

"I am also receiving care to fight my depression. I have now learnt that despite being HIV positive, there is every reason to Embrace Life."

stigma head on

Julia McParland, a senior support worker, said: "We endeavour to provide the best possible service to people who are facing this life altering condition.

"Part of the support we give is ensuring people understand they can live a long and healthy life, with the right treatment and support.

"The job can be with its challenges; however it is extremely rewarding."

United in grief to pay tribute to Jo

LUTON banded together in the aftermath of the horrific murder of Labour MP Jo Cox paying tribute to the mother-of-two at a vigil.

More than 100 people attended the gathering out-side Luton Borough Council on Monday night, with many still in shock over the attack that took the life of the Yorkshire MP as she hosted a constituency meeting.

A book of condolence was at the vigil and has now been placed in the Town Hall reception. Those touched by the death of the 41-year-old, days before her birthday, can also sign the book online on the council's website. It reads: "We send our sincerest and deepest condo-lences to Jo's family, husband Brendan and two young children, and hope they can draw strength in the difficult times ahead from the positive difference Jo made to so many people's lives." Luton's Labour MPs, Gavin Shuker and Kelvin Hopkins and Luton Borough Council leader Hazel Simmons were

A gangsters' tale

m. RARE Productions, the UK's largest youth musical theatre production company, present the popular show Bugsy Malone.

The stage musical follows the 1976 film, produced with a cast consisting entirely of children entirely of children.

Set in Chicago in the 1920s, this production centres on the battle for criminal supremacy of rival gangs led by Fat Sam and Dandy Dan.

Fat Sam Stacetto has the monopoly on the illegal sarsaparilla trade and everything seems to be running smoothly at the Grand Slam Speakeasy, the hottest night-spot in town

Then along comes Dandy Dan and his gang of hoodlums, armed to the teeth with the new and improved splurge guns - not a weapon to trifle with!

Enter Bugsy Malone - city slicker and smoothie extraordinaire - the man of every girl's dreams and every cop's nightmares.

RARE is an amateur production company aimed at children and young adults, aiming to give them a platform to perform in front of an audience.

The company has held performances across the south of England since being founded by Andrew Burton and David Marriott in 2002.

Tickets cost between £11 and £16 and are available from the Grove Theatre box office.

They can either be booked online at grovetheatre.co.uk or by calling 01582 602080.

Alternatively, you can pay on the door on the day, with performances starting at 7.30pm on all days, and a 2.30pm matinee on July 2.

Rock and rolling

YOU would be forgiven if rock and roll is the furthest thing from your mind when first invited to watch a choir perform.

But that all changes when the choir in question's back catalogue includes the likes of Queen and The Beatles

Dunstable's own Rock Choir, led by Pippa Gearing, will be taking to the stage at Luton Library Theatre for a night of feel-good songs on Friday, July

Their rousing performance will include uplifting anthems such as Queen's Don't Stop Me Now, Erasure's A Little Respect and Danny Wilson's Mary's Prayer.

And as well as spreading a good vibe, the members will also be raising funds for Luton and Dunstable Hospital's children's wards with their punchy performance.

Rock Choir is the UK's largest and most contemporary choir, offering adults and teenagers an alternative experience to the traditional classical or

Dunstable is just one of the area's to have formed it's own Rock Choir after musician and singer Caroline Redman Lusher first started the movement in

More than 10 years on, there are now almost 20,000 members belting out rock anthems in over 320 local communities.

As a whole, the Rock Choir has released two top 20 albums and performed at the O2 Arena, The Liverpool Echo Arena, Wembley Arena and the Royal Albert Hall to name just a few.

The members have been invited to perform on TV shows such as The One Show and even had a three-part documentary made following the choir's suc-

A spokesman for the group said: "Rock Choir is for anyone who just loves to sing! It offers adults and teenagers the chance to sing and perform popular contemporary songs, with no auditions and no requirements to read music or have any previous singing experience.

"Rock Choir's uplifting ethos of fun, friendship and community spirit is a huge part of its attraction.

"At an individual level, it helps improve people's self-confidence, enables them to develop new singing skills and enjoy a dynamic new social life." You can book a free taster session in

Brimming with history

LADIES' Day at Royal Ascot this year had fashion commentators sniping about some of the weird and wacky headgear on the racetrack

One race-goer turned up in a hat designed to look like a ram's head, complete with horns, while another wore a 2ft high giant rose-petal bonnet. Actress Anna Friel was even accused of wearing a dead pigeon on her

The annual June race meeting is famous for frivolous fashion, and designer David Shilling was one of the first to help women make a spectacle of themselves. His hats hit the headlines when he designed one for his mother Gertrude to wear to Royal Ascot when he was 12. The huge headpiece caused a sensation. got his parents on the front pages and Shilling kept up the tradition for more than 30 years until her death in 1999.

The founding father of modern still creates expensive hats for high society ladies; he once displayed a collection of hats with a price tag of £1million each. But as demand has fallen over the last few decades, Shilling is more likely to be wielding a blowtorch than a needle these days, and lives in Monaco, creating specially commissioned steel sculptures.

He's now decided to sell his five-storey mid-terrace period house in London's Marylebone. With two bedrooms, three bathrooms, formal dining room and courtyard, the master bedroom on the top floor with en-suite shower room has direct access to the roof terrace through a domed skylight. It's on the market for £1.95m.

Bond author's wartime hideout et-setter James Bond isn't often on home turf in Ian Fleming's novels, so readers looking for London settings have to make do with glimpses of St James's (his club), Regent's Park (his 'office') and King's Road (his apartment).

The exception is Moonraker, the third Bond novel, set entirely in England. While chasing Hugo Drax, a megalomaniac would-be dictator, arms manufacturer and card cheat, Bond gambles and drinks in St James's, meets assistant commissioner Vallance at Scotland Yard and prangs his vintage Bentley on the South Circular ring road.

The Moonraker villain lived in Belgravia's Ebury Street where there's a scene in the book – it's also where you'll find a blue plaque to the author who lived at 22b between 1936 and 1945, while working for Naval Intelligence during the war.

The former journalist used his wartime service for the background and detail of Bond's world, although he didn't publish the first book in the series - Casino Royale - until Having bought the flat from fascist leader Oswald Mosley, Fleming led an elegant life of dinner parties with friends Noel Coward and Cyril Connolly, had love affairs and amassed a large collection of first editions and surrealist art.

His former home was built in 1830 as a Baptist church but was later divided into flats, where a one-bedroom furnished apartment is up for rent. On the first floor, it's got high ceilings and wood floors in the reception room and open-plan kitchen, and will cost you £595 per week

Yo! Get a space-age flat

YO! Sushi founder Simon Islington area of Woodroffe designed the Live Aid stage at Wembley Stadium in 1985 after years working as a roadie and stage lesigner for Rod Stewart, the Moody Blues and Jethro Tull.

The restaurant entrepreneur went onto work in TV before sinking his £200,000 life savings into an idea for conveyor-belt sushi bars in 1997, which took off world-wide.

He's now set his sights on the property market with a concept for high-spec, pre-fab mini-homes as a way to give city dwellers more bang for their buck.

His firm YO! Home has submitted plans for 24 modular apartments aimed at young professionals in the up-and-coming New Labelled as the ultimate space-saving apartment, the YO! Home squeezes a bed, kitchen, lounge, dining area and bathroom into a one-bedroom studio flat but with clever space-saving ideas. Walls slide away with a gentle push, a dining room table appears from a compartment in the floor, and a plush king-size bed lowers from the ceiling. The flat is also full of under-floor

Due to the swift construction process – the self-contained pods will be built off-site and then lifted on top of each other – the flats should go on the market later this year, with prices starting at £150,000. www.yo.co.uk

Living on the Wilde side

OSCAR Wilde played the family man by reading his sons fairy stories he'd penned himself, but after Lord Alfred 'Bosie' Douglas came to tea, the pair were soon spending their evenings elsewhere.

While his masterpiece, The Importance Of Being Earnest, was still on stage in London, Wilde had Bosie's father, the Marquess of Queensberry prosecuted for libel. However, the trial unearthed evidence that caused Wilde to drop charges and led to his own arrest and trial for gross indecency with men. He was sentenced to two years' hard labour.

Wilde became the most infamous man in Britain. Queensberry bankrupted him, his copyrights and library were sold, and on release from prison he was forced to live abroad and died destitute in Paris, aged 46.

The Irish playwright, novelist, essayist and poet known for his biting wit, flamboyant dress and glittering conversation, moved to from grace in 1895. There's a blue plaque outside to prove it.

A two-bedroom garden flat in his former building with a large 30ft south-west facing terrace has now come on the market for £975,000. It's in need of some TLC but the agent reckons it has huge potential.

Where Middlemarch was penned

WRITER George Eliot's famous quotation: "It's never too late to be what you might have been' crops up frequently on Twitter and motivational speaking websites.

Her weighty novels were quite a lot longer than 140 characters but she shared some similarities with today's life coaches; Eliot wanted her words to instruct and enlighten, and mused over the moral impact she was having on readers.

Eliot – whose real name was Mary Ann Evans – used a male pen name so that she'd be taken seriously. She didn't want her books labelled light-hearted romances, and also wanted to shield her private life from public scrutiny.

Although seemingly a proper Victorian lady, Eliot lived with the married George Henry Lewes for more than 20 years. After a holiday together in Germany, the novelist found herself labelled a fallen woman and wasn't welcome in any respectable home, while several of her female friends were forbidden by their fathers from calling on her.

The author of Middlemarch and The Mill On The Floss lived in this house in Southfields, south London. Her former Grade II listed Victorian home, with a blue plaque outside, is now up for rent at £1.373 per week.

Originally named Holly Lodge, she wrote many of her books there, while Charles Dickens, Herbert Spencer and Wilkie Collins would pop in for tea.

It's got five bedrooms, four reception rooms, roof terrace, 70ft garden and off-street parking. The lower ground floor has a large open plan kitchen/dining/family room with wood burning stove.

Local Authority Notices

Luton Borough Council

THE BOROUGH OF LUTON (LAUNCH OF THE LUTON CULTURAL QUARTER) (TEMPORARY ROAD CLOSURES) ORDER 2016

NOTICE is hereby given that on 20th June 2016 Luton Borough Council, the Highway Authority for the said Borough, made the above Order under the relevant provisions of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 (as amended).

The Order will come into operation at 10.00 hours on a Friday and cease at 22.00 hours on Sunday for the duration of July 2016 or when the proposed event has finished, whichever is earlier. Specific times and dates will be signed locally. The Order will therefore be in operation during such time and to such extent as indicated by traffic signs, barriers or cones.

The effect of the Order will allow the Council to temporarily close to general vehicular traffic the roads and lengths of roads in Schedule 1 below and extend the times of operation in the pedestrian zone as specified in Schedule 2 below

The purpose of the Order is intended to create a safe window in July 2016 for the staging of the Launch of The Luton Cultural Quarter in the nedestrian area of Bute Street and Guildford Street

Access will be maintained as best as possible to properties where this may be done safely.

A copy of this notice and a plan showing the affected roads may be inspected at the Town Hall, Luton. Please telephone Highway Services on 01582 546523 to arrange for an appointment to view. Further information regarding the event may be found at www.theculturalquarter.co.uk or telephone 01582 546151.

Detailed, costed project fee proposals are sought from Conservation-Accredited Architects or Conservation-accredited Chartered Building Surveyors with appropriate experience in the diagnosis and prognosis of a buildings condition and designing detailed repairs to assemble and lead a specialist team, for a detailed phase of investigation work at Priory House, 33 High Street South, Dunstable, Beds, which is being part funded by Historic England.

The building has some serious structural and constructional defects which Dunstable Town Council require the successful applicant to identify and to then compile a detailed set of proposals for repair.

The Council already retain the services of a Conservation-accredited Structural Engineer, and Environmental analysts, both of whom will be part of the project team.

Applicants will be assessed against the following criteria, and those scoring highest, will be invited to make a presentation of 10-15 minutes, to explain how they would deal with the project, based on past experience of similar projects and taking into account the condition of the building and need to keep the building and it's functions in operation for revenue generating purposes.

... p. 0,500 road will be a Conservation-accredited Architect (CA) or AABC conservation accredited, or an RICS Conservation accredited professional (Building Surveyor).

Please provide written evidence of recent, past experience of surveying highly graded historic buildings with multiple constructional defects: solutions, ar ultimate outcomes. Cite members of intended team and their credentials and experience to include:

Archaeologist, quantity surveyor, principle designer, building analyst, conservation builder, asbestos surveyor, 3D laser survey.

It's anticipated that an appointment will be made in mid-August, following assessment of the bids and subsequent invitations to interview. In your application please confirm when you would be able to commence the project.

Vauxhall announces prices

BY STEWART SMITH

VAUXHALL has announced prices for its new Mokka X and Zafira Tourer models which will be in showrooms from October.

The new Mokka X SUV will have a starting price of £17,590 and comes with a number of petrol and diesel engines to choose from, including the new-to-range 1.4i 153bhp Turbo automatic petrol engine, as well as the 1.6CDTi 110bhp ecoFLEX manual diesel.

The new six-speed manual diesel engine version is available at every trim level and delivers up to 72.4mpg. It is available from £19,515 with the Design Nav trim.

Elsewhere in the range, Vauxhall is also introducing a new generation 1.4-litre Direct Injection Turbo (153bhp) petrol unit that offers 0-60mph acceleration of just 9.4 seconds and a top speed of 120mph.

With a six-speed automatic transmission, adaptive all-wheel drive and start/stop, the 1.4 Turbo engine is available from £21,150 in Design Nav trim.

Elite Nav is the top-of-the-range and will be priced from £22,855 and comes with full leather interior, heated front seats and steering wheel, and tinted rear windows.

The popular new Zafira Tourer will have an entry level price of £18,615 - an increase of £1,300 over the current model - and comes with an attractive new exterior and interior that emphasises its spacious design and outstanding in-car connectivity.

The latest model comes with the Flex7 seating system, ergonomically-certified front seats, a Flex-Fix bicycle carrier and FlexRide adaptive damping. Vauxhall is offering a choice of two engines for the new Zafira Tourer, the 1.4i 140bhp Turbo or the 2.0CDTi 170bhp in either manual or automatic transmission.

By choosing the 2.0CDTi 170PS diesel engine with start/stop manual transmission, the Zafira Tourer offers customers a combined fuel consumption of between 57.7mpg and 54.3mpg. The range-topping Elite Nav model adds the Vauxhall 950 Satellite navigation system and 18-in alloy wheels.

The panoramic sunroof is also standard in this trim, as are heated leather ergonomic front sports seats, dark tinted rear windows, electronic climate

SEAT Ateca

Take a look inside. . .

BY JON SMITH

SEAT may have been late to the SUV party but it looks likely to become one of the most popular

Its new Ateca has all the credentials to challenge front runners such as Nissan Qashqai, Renault Kadjar and its own cousin, the VW Tiguan, in UK's fastest growing sector.

With a sporty image and priced to undercut the VW, the £17,990 to £29,990 SEAT range looks great in the flesh with sharp racy styling and clean lines that should make it stand out.

A subtle family grille dominates the nose but it's nowhere near as aggressively-styled as say the Hyundai Tucson.

First models go out to customers in September although order books opened on June 1. Three diesel models and two petrol versions will be available.

The dash layout is clean and appears well laid out with switches and dials in easy reach. There's plenty of tactile, soft touch plastic but trim quality is a tad down on either Audi or VW, more on a par with Renault and Nissan.

Three trim levels are available but even the entry S versions have air condiitioning and seven model - the Xcellence - comes with leather upholstery, and LED headlights.

Climb aboard the Ateca and you first notice its roominess. There's loads of shoulder space. more in fact than in the Audi Q3. Rear seat passengers have ample headroom for six-footers and loads of legroom. The boot, too, is bigger than most rivals.

Get behind the wheel, and the Ateca has that familiar SEAT feel with eager and accessible performance and a minimum of fuss.

I first drove the 1.4TSI (£20,960 in SE form) which pushes out 148bhp and accelerates to 62mph in a nifty 8.5 seconds and then on to a maximum of 125mph. With light controls and a slick six speed manual gearbox it's easy and undemanding on twisty country roads or cruising down a motorway. The steering is a shade numb but that's not unusual with SUVs.

The TSI should prove cheap to run with CO2emissions of just 125g/km and an official combined consumption of 52.3 mpg. It's hard to under-estimate the importance to SEAT of the new model - it will offer loyal buyers of the marque a chance of remaining within the fold as their families and grow.

Maserati makes Quattroporte quicker

MASERATI is updating its flagship Quattroporte saloon with two new trims and some aerodynamic tweaks to make it even quicker. With changes to the nose including a more imposing grille fitted with an air shutter to reduce drag by up to 10 per cent, the V8 model - with its Ferrari-sourced - now has a top speed approaching 195mph. The new models will be coming on stream in the summer and see the introduction of GranLusso and GranSport trims across the range which is now priced from £70,510 for the 3.0-litre Quattroporte V6 diesel to £115,980 for the 3.8-litre V8. Three-litre V6 petrol models cost from £82,750 – an increase of some £1,100. All of the new models now have matt black side skirts and redesigned door mirrors while inside the cabin has been updated an 8.4-inch high definition touchscreen and a restyled centre consol which incorporates a new phone storage area. Apple CarPlay and Android Auto smartphone mirroring functions are now included as part of the car's connectivity systems while adaptive cruise control, lane departure warnings and automatic emergency braking systems are among new options. So is a surround view camera. The new trims will be available on the V6 models priced from £78,910 for the diesel and £91,150 for the petrol Quattroporte and will be standard on the V8. GranLusso models have subtle spoilers front and rear with chrome detailing in the nose and sit on 20-inch alloys while inside they feature luxury appointments including silk fabric trim. The GranSport finish is designed to give the Quattroporte a more aggressive stance and it comes with 21-inch wheels, gloss black bumpers and red brake calipers. The interior features sports seats, stainless steel pedals and aluminium paddle shifters as well as piano black trim. There's also the option of a carbon pack for the body with coverings on the door mirrors, centre pillars, door handles and bumpers. While the engines and 0 to 60 acceleration times remain unchanged, the slippier body styling moves the top speed of the diesel up to 157mph, the V6 petrol to 179 and the V8 to a maximum of 194mph.

JLR heads down to Rio

By: Chris Russon

JAGUAR Land Rover has opened its first wholly-owned factory outside of the UK with a new £240 million production plant in Brazil to build the Range Rover Evoque and Land Rover Discovery Sport. The factory, which includes an education and business centre, is in Rio de Janeiro and will produce models for the Brazilian market where Land Rover already has a 33 per cent stake of the premium SUV market. Wolfgang Stadler, JLR's executive director for manufacturing, said: "The opening of Jaguar Land Rover's new world-class facility in Brazil marks the latest exciting milestone in our global expansion." "Land Rover is already Brazil's market-leader for mid-sized premium SUV, accounting for more than 30% of all sales in that segment. The Range Rover Evoque and the Land Rover Discovery Sport will now be manufactured for the first time in Latin America, building on their existing popularity with customers in Brazil." The plant includes Jaguar Land Rover's first overseas Education Business Partnership Centre which will provide a range of classroom activities for up to 12,000 local children each year to will help them to develop key skills, work awareness and inspire them to develop key skills, work awareness and inspire them to develop key skills, work awareness and inspire them to develop key skills, work awareness and inspire them to grant and the provided and the provide JAGUAR Land Rover has opened its first wholly-owned

NEW SKODA KODIAQ 'BEARS' ALL

By: Mike Torpey

SKODA'S new SUV the Kodiaq is due to hit UK streets later this year and the Czech brand has released sketches that highlight exactly how appealing the newcomer will prove.

Design chief Jozef Kaban is the man behind the stylish looks, set off with a highly recessed shoulder line, sculptured rear section and long wheelbase.

Flat, raked headlights are positioned on both sides of a wide grille, their appearance paying homage to traditional Czech crystal glass art. Skoda says the Kodiaq, named after the 3,500 Kodiak bears that live on a remote island off the southern coast of Alaska, will be available with two extra seats in the third row as an optional extra.

Otherwise the SUV will have the largest boot in its area of the new car market.

Kaban said: "The Skoda Kodiaq is a pioneer for our brand in two respects. We are entering a new segment with our first large SUV above the Yeti.

"And at the same time, the Kodiaq is the first model with the new Skoda SUV design language. It is powerful and emotive, but also timeless."

ASTON MARTIN DB11 TAKES TO THE HILL

By: Mike Torne

SUPERCAR fans will get the chance to see the stylish new Aston Martin DB11 up and running for the first time at next week's Goodwood Festival of Speed. The 600bhp, 5.2-litre twin-turbo V12 GT stunner will be on display in the Michelin Supercar Paddock during the Festival weekend and will be driven up Goodwood's 1.16-mile hillclimb by Aston Martin chief Andy Palmer. Aston will also give its Vantage GT8 - the lightest and most powerful V8-powered Vantage ever built - its first UK public runs at Goodwood, driven in a timed run category by the company's works driver Darren Turner. And a year on from its global unveiling at the Festival of Speed, Aston Martin's track-only supercar the Vulcan will be back to tackle the hillclimb, also with Turner behind the wheel. The £155,000 DB11 - the first product launched under the company's 'Second Century' plan - can also be seen as a static display at Goodwood as part of the Moving Motor Show. Alongside it will be the Rapide S model, which will also be available for visitors to experience along with the V12 Vantage S Coupe and Vanquish Volante. Meanwhile, the Vantage GT8 will be on display in the Supercar Paddock during the main Festival of Speed weekend. Inspired by the company's GTE race car programme, only 150 examples of the £165,000, 4.7-litre GT8 will be built and all have already been sold.

RACE-BRED MINI UP FOR THE CHALLENGE

By: Mike Torpey

Dy: Nike Torpey

A NEW race-bred MINI is about to hit UK streets as a strictly limited edition model. Called the MINI John Cooper Works Challenge, it is based on the fiery MINI JCW Hatch variant but adds some upgrades to make it more track focused. The Challenge bit ferters to the racing series that has been running since 2002. And with that in mind the MINI development team in Oxford has worked with the racing car's key suppliers to ensure the newcomer 'delivers bespoke track performance to levels never before seen in the small hot hatch class'. Limited to a maximum of 100 cars, the model features a unique colour combination and graphics, genuine MINI JCW Pro Accessories, and is available in one fixed specification only with a tab of 632,000. The new special edition uses the latest MINI John Cooper Works Hatch as its basis – itself the most potent MINI ever produced – and is powered by a 2.0-litre twin turbo engine developing 231bhp. It uses a six-speed manual transmission, can scorch from 0-62mph in 6.3-seconds, has a top speed of 153mph, yet can return 42.2mpg with CO2 emissions of 155g/km. Bespoke styling includes enlarged air intakes at the front for increased cooling, contoured wheel arch extensions and Bespoke styling includes enlarged air intakes at the front for increased cooling, contoured wheel arch extensions and a rear spoiler, while the cabin features John Cooper Works sports seats and sports steering wheel. Satisfied with the car's degree of power, the engineering team concentrated more on the Challenge models chassis, tyres and braking. So the car is supplied with recommended settings for both road and track driving, the damper units offering adjustment through numerous clicks, though owners can choose to experiment with their own settings to tune the car to their own tastes. And it comes shod with 17-inch Michelin Pilot Sport Cup 2 tyres, original equipment for a host of high-performance cars, plus grooved and part-drilled 330mm front disc brakes with four-pot Brembo-developed calipers. The new John Cooper Works Challenge also uses the MINI JCW Pro Accessories like splitters and spoiler add-ons already available for John Cooper Works Hatch. Every Challenge model is painted in White Silver, can be readily identifiable by a bespoke graphics package, black roof and mirror caps and also has the alloy wheels finished in black.

England's rapid rise from the depths goes on

THE England rugby team have made history before on Australian soil (do I really need to tell you when?), but never had they won a series against the Wallabies before last week.

last week.
Eddie Jones' men produced one of the greatest defensive performances in memory during the 23-7 victory in Melbourne that followed up their thrill-a-minute 39-28 win in Brisbane.

It meant there was no way back for Australia ahead of yesterday's Third test in Sydney and it also represented eight straight wins since Jones took charge after their disastrous Rugby World Cup campaign last autumn.

It must have been a cathartic experience for several members of their squad, who were part of the team dumped unceremoniously out of that competition by the Wallabies at Twickenham.

Not least for former captain Chris Robshaw, who took some fearful flak in the aftermath, as he tackled himself to a standstill on what was his 50th cap and one of his best displays in an England shirt.

He was one of many heroes, with James Haskell once again immense, George Ford and Owen Farrell hugely intelligent at 10 and 12 and Dylan Hartley giving further evidence that he is an inspired choice as captain.

That this triumph has come after such a dramatic turnaround is in contrast to England's finest hour in 2003, as they had been building up to that for the last few years.

For a long time, they had shown themselves capable of beating the very best rugby had to offer, but that simply wasn't the case with the Red Rose less than a year ago.

Lancaster in 2012 proved to be just a flash in the pan, as they repeatedly fell short when it really mattered for the rest of his tenure.

We all knew changes needed to be made after the World Cup, but Jones also recognised which players from the old regime needed to be retained – 13 of the starting line-up last week were part of the squad last year.

The introduction of Maro Itoje has given the pack a dynamism they arguably haven't had since 2003, while younger players such as Anthony Watson, George Kruis and Billy Vunipola have taken more prominent roles.

Other players who played a part in England's back-toback triumphs in the Junior World Championships of 2013 and 2014 are now filtering in, with Jack Clifford, Paul Hill and Henry Slade looking set to blossom.

With this year's crop of U20s reaching the final again this year, it looks as if the stream of talent coming through is to remain a steady one.

Given England's rapid rise in the last five months, it makes you wonder how far they can go. Under Jones, it's starting to look like the sky's the limit.

Gumbs takes a bite out of Beds

A CENTURY by Shelvin Gumbs was to frustrate Bedfordshire on the final day of their rain-affected Minor Counties Championship match against Buckinghamshire at Luton Town & Indians Cricket Club.

In what was Beds' first home fixture in three-day cricket this season, both teams tried to force a result after persistent rain ensured no play was possible on day two. Set 242 to win, Bucks were reduced to 18-3 and victory looked to be in sight, but Gumbs Set 242 to win, Bucks were reduced to 18-3 and victory looked to be in sight, but Gumbs went a long way to thwarting the hosts with a brilliant 100 off 138 balls.

Despite a late rally from their bowlers, Bedfordshire were forced to settle for the draw as time ran out, meaning they were unable to fully bounce back after their exit from the Unicorns Knockout Trophy the previous week.

Bedfordshire were put in to bat after losing the toss last Sunday morning, but their openers Ben Howgego and Luke Thomas were to make the visitors regret that decision with a superb stand of 134. It was broken when Thomas edged Michael

It was broken when Thomas edged Michael Payne to Bucks wicketkeeper George Russell when he was on 44, but Howgego, who has struggled for runs at times this season, was to go on to make 87.

He perished when he was caught behind off Jonathan Burden shortly before the close of play on day one, with Beds handily placed on 196.4

The weather deprived them of the opportunity to build on this, however, and a wet outfield meant no play was possible before lunch on day three.

When the cricket finally resumed, Bedfordshire captain Andy Reynoldson clobbered a brisk 55 not out before his side declared on 241-4 and the two teams agreed to forfeit an innings each.

This gave Buckinghamshire a realistic target with 61 overs left, but it appeared Beds would be the ones celebrating as two wickets from Dean Bryce put the visitors in deep trouble. But a magnificent partnership of 144 for the fourth wicket between Gumbs and Dan Hampton threatened to swing the match in Ruckinghamshire's favour.

match in Buckinghamshire's favour.

However, off the very next ball after completing his century, Gumbs was bowled by Colin Griggs and this prompted a mid-order collapse that saw Robin

Pritchard and Russell quickly follow. Matthew Rance then became the fourth victim of Griggs, who took 4-63 from his 23 overs, and Bedfordshire were scenting victory again with Bucks now 183-7.

But Hampton dug in with an unbeaten 60 as he and George Humphries successfully batted out the final seven overs to salvage the draw for their side.

Bedfordshire's next game in the Eastern Division will see them make the long trip to Northumberland, with the match getting under way on Sunday, July 3.

DONE IT: The Red Devils pose with their cup

Devils dominance in the Cup continues

NETBALL

THE Red Devils and Leighton Buzzard Harriers were celebrating last weekend after winning the Cup and Plate finals in the Luton, Dunstable & District Netball League.

The Harriers proved to be particularly dominant in their Plate final against the Green Tornadoes last Saturday as they thrashed their opponents 42-26.

It was a closer run thing in the Cup final, where a superb display in the fourth quarter saw the Red Devils run out 38-31 winners over the Red Tornadoes.

Both teams fielded players who had appeared in the Bedford finals earlier in the week, and were locked at 25-25 at the end of the third, but the Red Devils' attack proved to be relentless as they took the cup for the ninth time.

Plymouth up first for Town

LUTON Town's fixtures for the upcoming season were announced on Wednesday, as they look to build on last season in Nathan Iones' first full campaign in charge.

A long trip to Plymouth marks the opening of their League Two campaign on August 6, while they host Morecambe to round it off on May 6 next year, with the winner receiving the Eric Morecambe trophy, which will also be contested on November 19. Clashes with local rivals Cambridge United are penned in for August 27 at The Abbey and on January 28 for the return home fixture.

The Hatters will be welcoming recently relegated Aston Villa to Kenilworth Road in the first round of the EFL Cup, with the tie, which may be selected for TV coverage, taking place in the commencing on August 8.

No change to ground plans

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

THE Brexit vote will not impact plans for Luton Town's new stadium, chief executive Gary Sweet has insisted as the club prepare to submit an outline application to the council on Thursday.

It is the next step after a much-praised eight-day public exhibition wowed almost 4,000 people last month, unveiling the scope of the club's ambitions for a new home at Power Court and the facilitating mixed-use Newlands Park scheme at the M1 junction

The submission of their plans will follow six days after markets were plunged into turmoil and fears for the UK's economy grew in the wake of Friday's referendum result to end Britain's membership of the European Union after 41 years. But speaking hours after the historic vote was confirmed – as the Hatters revealed three new Puma kits and an initial two-year shirt sponsorship deal with SsangYong Motor UK – Sweet said: "We don't believe it has any impact at all on the planning application.

"The thing is, nobody really knows what impact that's going to have. Here we are and we're still going to be buying IKEA furniture from Sweden and we'll still be travelling on security to foreign countries. easylet to foreign countries.

There is a lot of excited reaction from it and I'm not going to profess to being any economist at all in this, but from our point of view, a period of time, to calm the stutter that we're going to see in the markets, will help us in order to make sure that we get the right tenants in the offices and retail outlets and make sure that we get the right investand make sure that we get the right invest-ments coming in on those properties.

"Fortunately we don't have to do that this month or this weekend. We've got a little bit of time to do that. Generally, you don't sign up to those agreements until your planning application has been approved anyway.

"We've started to have those sorts of conversations so we know the sort of people conversations so we know the sort of people that are interested. There are businesses today [Friday], I noticed on the stock market, whose share prices increased, so it's not all doom and gloom for everybody out there and I'm just hoping that a few of the people that are intending to move in on our site have had a positive day too."

Sweet hopes people will be 'suitably impressed' by the amount of work to resolve some 'complex issues' and make it possible for the club to submit their outline applica-tion – but he admitted that it's still early days in the process, which the club hopes will see a first game in their new home by 2020.

The Hatters chief said: "Once it goes in, we turn a corner. It doesn't stop there, we carry on and we work with the planning officers to make sure that everything is understood and that any of their queries or their questions are also considered.

"It's an ongoing continuous process and hopefully we'll know [the outcome] at the end of the year and by the beginning of next and then that's a completely different era for Luton Town Football Club, we hope." Friday also saw Brighton's England Under-

21 goalkeeper Christian Walton sign on a season-long loan – Town's fourth summer capture – with manager Nathan Jones revealing to Luton on Sunday that he wants to add two more signings before the
